BPA celebrates a new safety record

In September 2011 British Pipeline Agency Limited (BPA) reached a significant safety milestone: 3 years without a lost time accident (LTA) to any staff. This adds up to 555,000 hours worked by BPA employees in this period.

Peter Davis, BPA Director and General Manager, thanked all BPA staff for their contribution to this success and said: "BPA's achievement of 3 years without lost time accident is a significant milestone. It validates our work to continually improve BPA's safety management systems used not only within the company but also when delivering services to our clients."
